Fifteen Plus-

When are you coming "home"?

We we started our adventures in missions way back in 2003. We committed to fifteen years. Not being sure what life would hold for us, we felt that this was a modest estimate of the time we would need to set in place the basic infrastructure to accomplish many of our goals. Fifteen years has come and gone all too quickly. New goals have replaced old ones and we are content and excited to continue to serve in PNG. In fact, the more our work has grown and developed the more potential and possibilities open up. We have established good relationships with other missions, government officials, and local community members. These relationships allow us to do more now than we ever could before. The short answer, "We will continue to try to localize all the positions of the existing works and be open to whatever God asks us to do next. For the immediate future we will continue to serve Him in PNG. We always want to be willing to serve in any capacity wherever He leads; whether in PNG or the USA, or elsewhere."

Shipping Containers in our “Free Time”

Many who watch our videos or visit us in PNG ask us, “How did you get that to PNG?”. That, could be our sawmill, our tractor, or our school materials or any number of things that have to travel from the US to PNG. A simple answer is, “Shipping Containers and Crates”. It's not like a trip to Lowes or Walmart or like a simple Amazon order. Packing a shipping container or crate requires detailed lists, box numbers, and careful descriptions so as not to cause undue interest by customs officials. Careful consideration must be given to when the shipment might actually make it to us in PNG. Schools curriculums and replacement parts for equipment must be ordered years in advance or we are faced with huge bills for more costly, quicker services such as Fed-Ex or DHL.

While we are on furlough many think we have our weekdays off. However, when we aren't traveling from church to church we are shopping, packing, and transporting goods for shipment to continue the work in PNG among other things. Books, tools, donated clothes, baby blankets, clinic supplies, school materials, a tractor, welder and many filters, hoses, belts, blades etc. have already been dropped off in Missouri with Friends in Action. They are a mission that oversees the sealing and transporting of the crate and container for shipping to PNG.

So while the perception is we are on 'vacation' in the USA, we are actually: packing a crate for shipping, visiting supporters/friends/family, helping out around the house, doing payroll for our employees in the village, monthly PNG taxes, government paperwork to keep us legally in PNG, visiting with homeschool groups, meeting with missions committees, grading papers for FODE students, and doing some extra homeschool with our kids. That's just a few ways our days are filled while in the US.
